1 Instructions

Estimathon Rules

The Estimathon is a 10-question contest and will run until 12:50 PM. Teams will submit intervals rather than single-number answers, and points are awarded based on the accuracy and width of each interval. The team with the lowest total score at the end of the round wins. Live scoring may be used if I can figure it out. Each team gets 16 submissions. Use them wisely. Some questions are harder than the others.

You may submit in the format of any decimal value, or in the form of $x \cdot 10^n$, e.g. 1012312, or $6.769 \cdot 10^{1234}$

Scoring

- For each question, teams submit an upper bound U and a lower bound L.
- A submission is considered correct if the true answer lies within the interval.
  - Example: If the true answer is 69,420, then [60,000, 100,000] is correct, while [420, 69,000] is not.
- Among correct submissions, narrower intervals receive better (lower) scores. For example, [60,000, 70,000] is better than [1, 100,000].
- Any interval or unanswered question that does not contain the correct answer multiplies your score by 8.
- Your score for a question will only go off of your last submission.
